Girls Observe May Day Here

Continued a fine weather during the month, and this was not without its用...

A Worthy Example

"Somehow there was a more diffident attitude among the men, and a little less confidant certainty among the women," said Professor McLaughlin. This passage could be indicative of a change in the students' behavior over time. Professor McLaughlin's presence seems to have played a role in this change. He might have been a figure of authority or inspiration to the students.

The memory of my friend and teacher, Prof. J. D. McLaughlin, will forever remain in my heart. He was an inspiration and a guiding light to many students, including me. His spirit, dedication, and passion for teaching will always be remembered.

Educator Deliver S. H. Address

The feature of the high school graduation exercises on Friday, April 27, was the address delivered by Dr. A. R. Haynes, President of Berry College. The address was given at the Berry Springs community on having the opportunity to share in the achievements of our students, and the importance of education in shaping our lives.

Offering the assurance that any school and any community are the places where we come to compose the community, to develop society, to plan for better ideas, and efforts were necessary to accomplish the benefits of education. We must share with our mutual values, our mutual humanity, and the things that matter in our lives. An address on the importance of higher order of fatherly obligations.

Linda J. Jenkins

I recently received a wonderful surprise when I was asked to attend a special event by Dr. McLaughlin. It was a surprise and a lovely gesture. I am deeply grateful for his kind gesture and for the opportunity to be a part of this special occasion.

But the memory of my friend and teacher, Prof. J. D. McLaughlin, will forever remain in my heart. His spirit, dedication, and passion for teaching will always be remembered.

THE NEW REGIME AT BOILING SPRINGS

Since progress depends upon change, there has been ample room for progress in the school life of B. S. during the past year. Some of these changes have made both the students and the faculty more efficient. There have been new curricula, new textbooks, new methods of teaching, new arrangements for the school administration, and new opportunities for the development of the students.

Among the changes that have taken place are the following:

1. A new curricular program has been adopted, with the aim of providing a more comprehensive education for the students.
2. New textbooks have been adopted, which are more up-to-date and relevant to current events.
3. The methods of teaching have been improved, with a greater emphasis on active learning and student participation.
4. The school administration has been restructured, with a new principal and more efficient staff.
5. New opportunities for extracurricular activities have been created, such as sports, clubs, and community service.

Another movement which will further the tendency toward a new regime at B. S. is the fact that, in the future only those of the Baptist sect will be employed as instructors in this Baptist educational institution. There could be much said for both sides of this question, and only the future can tell whether there are any useful benefits to be derived from such a move, or whether there was any harm resulting from the old custom of not discriminating among teachers because of their religious beliefs.

In the long run, however, a program like this should not inconvenience anyone; for there are Baptist instructors in other schools of various faiths. This seems reasonable enough. There should be a real spirit of good will, and the students should be able to learn from the experiences of those teaching them, even as they have learned from the experiences of those teaching them.

No change, however, will be made without the consent of the entire school. This is the way it has always been at B. S., and the future of the school will depend upon the decisions of the students and the faculty.

Let's have a better and always better Boiling Springs College as the years come and go.

BUT FOR THESE

"Money makes the man go, but it does not make good men," says Washington Irving in the title of one of his stories. The Kalathaeas staff have learned that it takes money to make newspapers, as well as other places, go. Try all with the main force, and what you get are not only good but may prove to be very good. We hope the Kalathaeas go without the help of the business people who have advertised with us. Does one regret that we failed to return with the business which they enjoyed as a reward of their own good deeds? We would reply with the reminder that "The workman is worthy of his hire." and we wish those people to know that we not only thank them for their support, but that we hope their business has been no less increased as a result of our carrying their advertising.

Publish Annual

For the first time in the history of this institution, Boiling Springs College is publishing an annual. This accomplishment has come about as the result of the growing pains that have affected our institution. From the day it was conceived, this college has had to work out its own problems and to overcome every obstacle that presented itself. This year, however, we have been able to overcome the obstacles and, with the encouragement of the staff, we have decided to publish an annual. The content will reflect the accomplishments of the students and faculty, providing a comprehensive overview of the college's activities during the past academic year.

A MOTTOES PRAYER

Oh, God, I pray, this child of yours, may Your grace be upon his heart and soul. I pray that when he grows up, he may become a man who will give his life to the service of others.

A man, you will grant him power to be a servant of God, and to live a life of faith and devotion.

Keep him safe from all evil, and bless him in all things.

May he be a light to his fellow men, and a blessing to all who know him.

May his life be one of service to others, and may God bless him always.

While the world turned around, the mind burned on and burnt your eyes full of sun. It is a time of the past. Nothing news that may be unappreciable.

Speaking of the recent successful and happy success, let's still buy another college down a choice, speaking that. Which they sent down: Are they really important will vary rapidly by constant study, or are they just inelitiously smart? But what can they do to change? One must need a long need in the hospital, while the other went to go to the mountains. The human need to take to the grocery sales. One must be working for Jack Sum. Several others are in the nursing business with their own turn toward the doctors. Then there's the outcome in the under business, while the merry tells teach school and study. The ministers are living happy and happy, and their children.
