ALUMNI SUPPORT MATURES

The Alumni Association has undertaken specific projects from time to time. Numbered among those of recent years are the placing of tables in the Conference Room of the Webb Administration Building, furnishing of the President's office and removal of the web to its present location. The most recent effort was voted at the banquet in May, 1967. This cover tells the story. The work has been done.

With a sincere expression of appreciation for that which has been done, we now turn our energies toward a project that will be with us year by year and can count for much in the continued growth of Gardner-Webb. We refer to the Annual Fund (Living Endowment). By personal solicitation, telephone contacts and mail we expect to get through to our alumni with the message. The favorable response is assured—if we just succeed in getting the communication lines open.

As we render every possible service to you, our alumni, why not join others in making an investment in Christian Higher Education annually by sending us your contribution? Whatever the size of the gift, it will be significant as all gifts are taken together. You are important to us. The success of our program depends on each one. Remember, our year follows the College's fiscal year which ends June 30.

YOUR ESTATE: FOR THE TAX COLLECTOR OR YOUR FAMILY?

Some of your money you intend to leave your family may be paid instead to the tax collector.

The Federal estate tax exemption is only $60,000. The value of your property above that figure, including your life insurance and jointly owned property, is subject to tax.

Property you give Gardner-Webb College is deductible for Federal income and estate tax purposes. By contributing the tax-saving effect of such a gift with a replacement of your estate, it may be possible for you to greatly reduce or eliminate the tax on your estate, thus leaving more of your property for your family.

Our newly-adopted Planned Gifts Program is designed to explain the various methods of making gifts that may be of great mutual benefit to you and your family as well as to Gardner-Webb. If you would like to receive our descriptive brochure entitled "The Economy of Giving," please write to President E. Eugene Patten for your copy.

FORMER PRESIDENT CANTRELL

HONORED BY LATTIMORE CHURCH

A $1,000 J. R. Cantrell Memorial Endowment Fund has been set up in memory of the former President of Gardner-Webb College and long-time pastor of Lattimore Baptist Church.

The Lattimore Baptist Church made the fund available to honor the memory of Rev. Cantrell who was pastor of that church for 13 years, retiring around 1960 from that position.

Dr. Eugene Patten, president of the college, said "Words are inadequate to express full appreciation to you for the $1,000 memorial fund."

Others interested in the fund and in honoring the memory of Rev. Cantrell are invited to make contributions. Members of the Lattimore Church have expressed a hope that many others will join in building up the fund.

Rev. Cantrell, president of G-W from 1939-45 died on June 23, 1967. He had attended the school when it was a high school and finished his way by cutting wood and firing the boiler to heat buildings. His was 25 years old when he started to high school and had a wife and two children.

From Bowling Springs High School Cantrell went to Wake Forest College where he graduated in three years with a near perfect academic record, never taking an examination under the old rule that an "A" average exempted a person from exams.

His years at G-W were crucial ones, for he kept it alive in an interim period when everyone felt that hope had run out. The campus had grown up in woods, the buildings were falling apart, the E. B. Hester Building had burned, old bed springs had been found on the woods within 25 feet of buildings and the sewer outlet terminated in the vicinity of the present Stroup Residence Hall.

Rev. Cantrell had the E. B. Hester Building restored, remodeled the "Old Barn," a residence hall for men; raked-up the old gymnasium and had the Huggins-Curtis Building renovated.

Mrs. Ansel (Bud) Harmon of Bowling Springs, a daughter, said that she still has in her possession a book kept by Rev. Cantrell showing how he financed the work. "The largest gift was $10.00 and most of them were in the range of 10 and 25 cents," Mrs. Harmon says. Rev. Cantrell was known for his prayer altar where he spent hours in Harmon says. "I know he spent many sleepless nights over the college," Mrs. Harmon said.

He had an entrance built to the campus (now gone due to the change in the entrance road direction) and did an enormous amount of work in behalf of an institution which might have closed except for his efforts.

ON THE COVER

A small historic drama took place on campus recently, involving only a brief posse of innocent from harrumphing students and some faculty.

Others of the faculty posed longer and spoke about the change which to some seemed as insignificant as the replacement of a burned-out light bulb.

The old flagpole which had stood for years at the center of the campus was taken down and a new, shiny one replaced it. Hopefully, the old pole was to be erected at the stadium but it was rusted out and unusable—and well it might have been.

Professor Hubert Dixon remembers it when it was completely rusted-through, rather than about ground. If the pipe used to pump water through from the old well would have stopped running water to the Huggins-Curtis Building, the Bowling Springs Church, the postoffice, and perhaps two other buildings.

The old well was located in front of what is now the campus center building. Professor Dixon, as a student, remembers that when the pumping mechanism would fail, the water pressure would drop—all the works had to be pulled from the well (an repair including the fusible flagpole).

In later years, when the well was no longer in use, the pipe was pruned into one as a flagpole near the front of the Huggins-Curtis Building which burned in 1937. From that position it was moved to the center of the campus and last month ended its long service to the college.

The new pole was purchased by the Alumni Association for $562. It is a 48-foot pole made of aluminum and is an attractive addition to the campus beautification and improvement project.

Old Glory is raised over the campus by Professor Hubert Dixon, left, and J. Morrison Gilbert, alumni association president, following a recent planning meeting of alumni officers. Professor Dixon and President Gilbert were instrumental in getting the new flagpole and flag for the college. In the other insert on the cover the flag unfurls in an April breeze, adding beauty and prestige to the campus.

It yet remains to be seen just how large our web will grow, but this much we know, once you're woven in, we never let you go. This is the spirit of Gardner-Webb.

Joyful Noise To Greet Alumni On May 11 . . .

A "Joyful Noise" is assured alumni who attend the annual spring Alumni Association meeting at 7 p. m. on May 11 at Gardner-Webb College. The sound will be furnished by eight college students who entertain with folk music as well as that they have made numerous concert appearances in the Carolinas.

We hope the other sound will be just as happy as alumni have an opportunity to gather and enjoy talking over "old times", visiting children, hearing added sounds and noting receding hairlines.

Make an effort to communicate with your class members and set a meeting before or after the dinner—you will enjoy it. Over 400 are expected to attend the alumni dinner which is highlighted each year by the announcement of the "Alumnus of the Year."

In addition this year are the classes of 1914, 1919, 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959, 1964, and as guests the class of 1968. President of the Alumni Association is J. Morrison Gilbert of Spindale. A new slate of officers will be elected during the association's dinner meeting in the cafeteria of the Charles I. Dowse Campus Center.

Dr. E. Eugene Poston, president of Gardner-Webb College, was "Alumnus of the Year" in spring of 1963. Other recipients of the award have been: L. R. Harrell of Raleigh, 1966; Professor Hubert Duncanson, 1965; Rev. and Mrs. Zab Moss, miscellaneous, 1964; Mrs. R. C. Campbell of Shelby, 1963; Mrs. Dorothy Hamrick of Bolling Springs, 1962; John H. Dover, Jr., late of Shelby, 1961; Professor O. P. Henrick, late of Bowling Springs, 1960; Mrs. Pam L. Yelton of Shelby, 1959; Dr. Leon H. Hollingsworth of Winston-Salem and Wake Forest University, 1958 and Arnold W. Kincaid late of Kings Mountain, 1957.

Coch Stasavich To Be Speaker

East Carolina University Football Coach Clarence Stasavich will be the speaker May 4 during the Gardner-Webb College All Sports Banquet.

Coch Norman Harris, athletic director at the college, notes that Building Club members, athletes from the six intercollegiate teams of the college, the cheerleaders and the dates of the athletes and cheerleaders will attend the banquet, along with some special guests.

The 7 p. m. dinner meeting will feature the presentation of trophies and other recognition to athletes who excelled during the year.

Commencement Exercises Slated For 125 Students

James D. Fitzky, chairman of the board of J. P. Stevens and Co., Inc., will be the speaker at Gardner-Webb College's commencement exercises, it was announced recently by Dr. E. Eugene Poston, president.

Fitzky has been chairman of the board since July of 1965 and was elected to the board of directors of the Borden Co. in April of 1967.

Commencement exercises will be held at 3 p. m. May 12 for approximately 125 students receiving the Associate in Arts Degree from the Baptist junior college.

The May 12 Baccalaureate sermon for graduating students will be preached by Dick Bellow of Adena, Ga.

The 11 a. m. service is traditionally held in the Bolling Springs Baptist Church and is preceded by the academic procession from the campus through the Higgins-Curtis Arch to the church.

Bellow attended Baylor University and graduated from the University of Texas in 1950 with a major in Classical Greek. He has been on the staff of the Campus Crusade for Christ for seven years and is presently the Southeastern Regional Director for the organization. (Note: Shown above is the 1967 graduating class)

(Editor's Note: We have no agents enlisted for years before 1942. Neither was there any news! Where the year is omitted in the sequence the same conditions prevail. Information following the agent's name is provided by the Atlanta office and the agent is not to be held responsible. Where there is news but a line for the agent's name, we do not have an agent. We are working on this. "Thank you very much" is our sincere expression to the agents who help as in this project.)

'61 It is a cold, rainy day in Connecticut; a very good day for reminiscing. My mind is beginning to wander back to the summer of 1967. We vacated our dorms and friends in North Carolina that summer. As usual, when we are anywhere in the state we start to Gardner-Webb College "Just for old times sake". How amazed we were at the changes we saw. So many new buildings had sprung up, many more acres of ground had been cleared, an endless stream of students milled about. To be sure, progress had been made. In fact, so had your had to stop and catch your breath. We stopped at the corner of the streets to take a panoramic view. Suddenly the new buildings vanished from my sight, the size of the campus grew smaller, and the number of students began to diminish. I saw the campus just as it was in 1961, the year so many of us remember so well. That was the year that the E. B. Hornick Building was the center of activity, the year that the O. Max Gardner Memorial Building welcomed many newcomers, the year that the John R. Dover Memorial Library provided mental stimulation for approximately 600 students, and the year that the Beving Springs Baptist Church gave us many students the spiritual understanding and the encouragement they needed to do their very best in whatever they were undertaking.

I don't know how long I had been wandering there but just as I began to emerge from my deep thoughts I saw a tall, dark-haired guy walking in the distance. For an instant he appeared to be someone I had known, perhaps a few years before. Suddenly, the name came to me—Jerry Walker. I took a few more steps toward the boy, clearer and called "Jerry". He turned and, embarrassed, I apologized for the obvious mistake. A flood of names began to come back to me then.

LOOK-ALIKE SISTERS WIN TITLES

Look-alikes have earned a crown apiece this year at Gardner-Webb College.

Jennie and Becky Owens, distinctive coeds with long, flowing blonde hair could interchange crowns without anyone having known the difference during the Holiday Basketball Tournament or in the May Day coronations.

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Owens of North Wilkesboro, the girls have the same major, social welfare, but this year will be their last together in school.

Each has decided on a different school following graduation at Gardner-Webb this spring. Becky is going to East Tennessee State University while Jennie will go to Appalachian State University. "I'll still be looking for her," said Jennie of her sister when asked about the chance of not having her sister with her.

Jennie was May Queen during activities April 27 and her sister was Holiday Queen during the basketball tournament at G-W in December. Both are active at the school with Jennie being a cheerleader, a Pep Club member and serving as secretary of the Messenger Club.

Becky was Chief of the Doggies (a spirit booster group), a member of last year's May Court and a member of the Pep Club.

The girls look alike, dress alike, play the same major, and enjoy the same hobbies of horseback riding and swimming.

Weavings....

Rabbi Allan L. Smith of Temple Emanuel in Gastonia spoke April 6 to students about "The Jewish Contribution to American Culture."

Folkinger Bruce Farwell was at the college for a colloquious entertainment series April 4-5.

Final faculty seminars included the topics "Reese Deussen: The Man, the Method, the Method" and "Inquiry into the Theology of Worship in Christianity and Hinduism."

Approximately 1,000 students enjoyed the episode of THE ENIGMS during a March 28 student union concert.

The Campbell College Touring Choir visited G-W in late March to give a fine musical concert at chapel.

THE CLOWN, a children's musical written by C. Robert Jones, director of drama at the college, had its foreign premiere this in New Brunswick, Canada. It will tour several Canadian towns.

The musical "archbishops" of G-W, the Young Ensemble, have made their annual spring concert tour. This year the group sang in schools and churches in the Washington, D. C., Maryland, and Virginia area.

O. Max Gardner Foundation Donates Home For President

Trustees of Gardner-Webb College have unanimously accepted a $75,000 grant from the O. Max Gardner Foundation, Inc. for the purchase of a new president's home.

The lovely new home is located on a wooded knoll in the River Bend Area development and is adjacent to the country club building of that development.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Eugene Poston are expected to occupy the home on or before August 3 of this year. Recently constructed by the Post Poston, the home is on a three acre site. It is completely carpeted, air conditioned and has four bedrooms, three and one-half baths and is especially adapted for entertainment. The 5,000 square foot new home is expected to be a great asset to the college while the present president's home is expected to be used as a guest home. The college has long needed a guest home due to a lack of motel facilities in Bowling Springs.

Cagers Conclude Finest Season

It was a tremendous season for the Gardner-Webb College Basketball team. Although eliminated from the national playoffs in two straight games, the Bulldogs could look back on a 30-5 overall mark, including championships in the Holiday Tournament at Bowling Springs, the Holiday Tournament at Wytheville, Va., the Western Carolina Conference title, the conference tournament title, and for the first time in history the Region 10 title and participation in the national playoffs.

Cash Eddie Holbrook will have returned in 1958-59, 7-2 center Artie Gilmore, 6-4 guard Art Roberts, 6-5 forward Ernie Fleming, starting guard, Steve Kibcock; number six man, Jack McCall; 6-5 Kevin Cantwell, Joe Boyd, Steve Randall and Robert Wilburn.

The team flew to Hutchinson, Kan., via Chicago and Boyd Nordstrom of Sterling, Colo., in their first game. Based on underdogs to the fifth ranked Colorado team, the Bulldogs forced the tilt into an overtime only to lose 83-80. The next evening Robert Morris College of Caribage, Ill., whipped the G-W lads 82-60 eliminating them from national play.

Perhaps the biggest surprise for G-W fans and players was the consistently packed 8,000 seat arena in Hutchinson, a city of around 50,000 persons which normally laughs over 60 invite colleges to send scouts and coaches to look over the finest junior college players in the country.

For Coach Eddie Holbrook, now holding a 92-25 college coaching mark, it is a case of waiting until next year. Should the young recruit come up with a mark better this year as he did last, what a year it could be.

Three giant steps have been made by Gardner-Webb College in its efforts to gain approval for a senior college program.

Two major steps remain to be made.

Proceedures set up for colleges named and opened by the Baptist State Convention of N. C. to change status is to make a request of the Council on Christian Higher Education of which Rev. Ben Fisher is secretary.

The Council appoints a study committee which guides and evaluates progress of the college toward its goal. Approval of this committee means the issue to the Committee on Administration and Finance of the Council as a preliminary move before study by the entire Council.

Gardner-Webb has now successfully made the steps mentioned above and will have a presentation to make in July to the Executive Committee and the General Board of the Convention which can then decide to recommend or not recommend this change of status to the entire convention in November. Should the convention vote approval of the request, Gardner-Webb could then proceed with its work toward senior status.

Determination of approval is based on the progress of the college in the realm of curriculum, faculty and library which mean the school must be well on its way in planning and actual results before a final decision is made on the matter.

The original study committee consisted of Mr. Forrest Hunt, superintendent of schools in Rutherford County, as chairman; Judge David Ross of Raleigh and Farnham; Dean Ralph M. Lee, moderator of Mount Hill College, The Rev. Hoyne Rivers, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Cranston who has moved to Union, S. C., to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist Church, Dr. James Ralph Scates, president of Wake Forest University and ex-officio member, Rev. Ben C. Fisher and R. N. Stearns, Jr.

The committee recommended on March 15, "We recommend to the Council of Christian Higher Education that Gardner-Webb College be allowed to move toward four-year status when in the judgment of its trustees and administration qualifications for accreditation can be reached."

Fisher explained that this committee was not to determine accreditation as a senior college but to be reasonably certain that Gardner-Webb College can meet the requirements for accreditation before recommending change of status to the Council.

He went on to say that Standards I, III, IV, and VI of the Southern Association of Colleges were subjects for the main part of discussion. "In addition to previous progress reports, documentation was furnished, demonstrating that Gardner-Webb is progressing steadily in meeting requirements for the accreditation," Fisher said.
