2016

Active Learning Online

Natalie Bishop
Gardner-Webb University

Emily Robertson
Gardner-Webb University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/improve

Part of the Curriculum and Instruction Commons, Higher Education Commons, Online and Distance Education Commons, and the Teacher Education and Professional Development Commons

Recommended Citation
Bishop, Natalie and Robertson, Emily, "Active Learning Online" (2016). Instructional Modules for Professional learning Responding to Opportunities and Valuing Educators (IMPROVE). 7.
https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/improve/7

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the School of Education at Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Instructional Modules for Professional learning Responding to Opportunities and Valuing Educators (IMPROVE) by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@gardner-webb.edu.
Active Learning Online Professional Learning Module

Description

This module is designed to support instructors in engaging students by incorporating active learning strategies in the online learning environment.

Instructors will be presented with a series of online activities ranging from beginner to advanced in their implementation. Aligned with course content, each learning activity provides students an opportunity to apply higher order thinking and 21st century skills.

Subject Terms

- Active Learning
- Course Design
- Higher Education
- Applied Learning
- Engagement
- Online Activity

References

Terms of Use

The learning cycle featured in this project is based on the STAR Legacy Cycle developed by the IRIS Center (2013; http://iris.peabody.vanderbilt.edu/) and based on the work of Dr. John Bransford and colleagues (National Research Council, 2000).