Dearest Fay:

We were grieved
to hear of dear Madge's death, but as she had become so frail and weakened that she couldn't enjoy the things of this world, I think it is far better that she paid the debt, and passed on as we all have to do sooner or later. I feel it was the will of the dear heavenly Father, whom we love, and feel that even tho' we can't understand sometimes

He always knows best

Fay dear you have been tested and found true as steel
for you have borne

Courageously so many trials in the past few years - and
you didn't do it alone.
For you, like myself,
believe in a higher
power and feel that sometimes the way is difficult, ^{but} He will always help and guide us.

I am glad that M.F.
could be with you, and no doubt will be with you several days longer.

Were Edna and Lela
able to come to the luncheon?
Hope they keep well.

Love to Ralph and Carrie - a grand couple!

and do hope Max Jr.
keeps his spirits up and is getting along with them could be expected.

Love to him, you know how fond I was always of him.
And love to Uncle
Mabel and Alice.

Take mine, joins me with love and sympathy
always Lillian
