Proposed Webb Administration Building

Dear Alumni:

Everything taken into consideration the college is having an excellent year. Too many are failing or are dropping out for some reason. However, less than twenty per cent have dropped out so far. That is less than half the mortality rate in most four-year institutions. Our athletic teams are doing well; the debaters are also keeping up their record.

At this writing more than fifty per cent of the goal of the campaign has been pledged. This includes an anonymous gift of $100,000.00, a $75,000.00 gift from the Gardner Foundation for a new administration building to be known as the Webb Administration Building, the $30,000.00 gift from the Bost Family for covering the swimming pool, and a number of gifts for $10,000.00 or less. The faculty and the trustees are one hundred per cent in their support of the campaign, giving some $40,000.00. We shall hear from the students, present and former, sometime later.

Dr. Elliott

Contract will likely be let the 26th of this month for the Webb Administration Building. This will enable us to use the Hamrick Building for the Fine Arts Department. It is hoped that we can complete the physical education facilities, including the swimming pool, playing field, tennis courts, in the near future.

The prospects were never brighter. There has never been a time, however, when apathy, delay, lack of interest, and failure to make a contribution will cost so much. It is sincerely hoped that everyone will rally to supply the minimum needs of the college now. Today the opportunities are really great for all who can and will lend a helping hand not only for the necessary facilities but also for a loan fund to help students who desperately need financial aid to attend college. What role will you play for your school? The needs are evident and should be great enough to challenge your response. The college will inscribe in imperishable memory the names of those who help.

New Administration Building To Be Erected

The college trustees are expected to let contracts February 26 for erection of the Webb Administration Building, to be built on the site of the old "barn" — dormitory for men since 1923.

The new building is made possible by a gift of $75,000 from the O. Max Gardner Foundation and the Gardner family. It is named in honor of Mrs. Fay Webb Gardner and in memory of her parents, Judge and Mrs. James L. Webb; her grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. George M. Webb; and the Rev. James M. Webb.

Mailed under second class permit No. 70 at the post office in Boiling Springs, N. C., under Act of Congress August 24, 1912.

Published quarterly by Gardner-Webb College, Boiling Springs, N. C., for its alumni and friends.

John E. Roberts, '49 - - - - - Editor

Shown on the front cover of the QUARTERLY the administration building will be a two story structure of architecture conforming to other new campus buildings. The ground floor will house the president's office, board room, and offices for the business manager, dean, and registrar. The second floor will contain offices for the vice-president, public relations department, publications, church development, alumni, and records.

The building will face the corner of West College Avenue and South Main Street, known to all alumni simply as "the crossroads." The "barn" has been evacuated and is to be razed as soon as possible. Someone has said that tearing it down should be a simple matter as it is in such a sad state already.

Occupied by men from its erection until 1948, it was then used as emergency housing for women students for three years. Since 1951 it has served as the music building. The Fine Arts Department is now quartered temporarily in the McMurry Wing of HAPY Dormitory until the Webb Administration Building is completed and Fine Arts can be housed permanently in the E. B. Hamrick Building.

SUMMER SCHOOL PLANS

The Summer Session will open June 7 and continue through August 6, with graduation exercises scheduled for the closing day. Dean J. O. Terrell, director, has announced 29 courses of study in 10 major fields.

The 16th annual summer school is expected to enroll 125-150 students. Enrollment has risen steadily from 13 in the original session to a peak of 140. Dormitories and cafeteria will be open, and free admission to the swimming pool is granted summer students, according to Dean Terrell.

Commencement Speakers

Two prominent North Carolina pastors will address the Gardner-Webb graduates in exercises scheduled for May 29 and 30.

The Rev. R. Knolan Benfield, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Morganton, will preach the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday night, May 29. The commencement address will be given by Dr. Claude B. Bowen, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Greensboro.

Dr. A. B. Wood recently presented a valuable library to Gardner-Webb. His collection of several

Trustees Choose Officers

Mrs. Rush Stroup of Shelby, closely associated with Gardner-Webb since 1934, is chairman of the board of trustees for 1960. She was unanimously elected in the board meeting of last Dec. 1.

The new chairman is the first woman duly elected as board chairman for any Baptist college in North Carolina. At about the time of her election Meredith College elevated a woman vice-chairman to head its board replacing a resigned chairman.

Mrs. Stroup has served as college treasurer for the past nine years, and served numerous terms on the board. Stroup Dormitory for Women is named for her and her late husband.

Board vice-chairman is the Rev. W. T. Hendrix, '42, of Gastonia. Ralph E. Roberts of Shelby was re-elected secretary, and Clifford E. Hamrick, '22, of Boiling Springs was named treasurer.

Dr. Wood retired last year as pastor of Midwood Baptist Church in Charlotte. He and Mrs. Wood, the former Miss Ollie Mae Gold, '17, now live in Shelby.

DEATHS

P. Dean White, '23, died Nov. 30, 1959, of a heart attack. He is survived by his wife, the former Mae Crawford, and by four children, Bob, Bill, Heyward, and Edwin.

John Baptist Price, '51, of Ellenboro, Rt. 2, died of a heart attack on Sept. 28, 1959.

Paul Cook, husband of Frances Hildegard McGinnis, '52, of Lawn-dale, was killed in an accident near Hickory the latter part of November, 1959.

Our Alumni President Speaks

Dear Fellow Alumni:

I am sure all of you are anxious to know how the campaign for $550,000 for our college is progressing. Information concerning this may appear elsewhere in the Quarterly, but since I am enjoying participation in this campaign by serving as chairman for the Boiling Springs area, I want to take this opportunity to personally discuss this with you.

The groundwork for raising the amount proposed has already been laid. Special gifts now total over $300,000. The special gifts committee still has a number of cards on which they expect reports which we hope will raise the campaign total much higher.

Organization of Cleveland and Rutherford Counties is now complete and we expect to have the campaign completed in these areas shortly. Those of us who have been attending the preliminary organizational meetings have been thrilled with the reports of the special gifts, the enthusiasm of our leaders, and the optimism of all who attend. Cleveland has almost 500 volunteer solicitors, and Rutherford has almost that number. Gaston is laying plans for a similar drive soon.

Cleveland County has a goal of $300,000 in their concentrated drive which is scheduled for completion by March 14. Rutherford is seeking $100,000, with April 1 set as their victory date. Gaston and adjacent areas are expected to seek $150,000 in their effort later this spring.

We are looking forward to the effects a successful completion of this campaign will have on the college. A site has already been selected for the administration building and plans are progressing for letting the contract for this. Pray that the campaign may be a complete success and when the opportunity is given for you to have a part in this challenge do so willingly and generously.

O. P. Hamrick

SCENES FROM THE 1950'S

Like newspapers, pictures tend to become more interesting with age and sometimes serve a purpose quite removed from the originally intended.

The editor's files bulge with pictures telling the story of Gardner-Webb, and as you are a part of that story so are you included in many of the pictures. The preceding pages contain random shots from each year of the decade just passed. Each print shows something of student life, but no attempt is made to classify them as "Picture of the Year."

The 1950 print shows editor Betty Joyce Jones and the ANCHOR staff. If space would permit it would be interesting to list the present address and occupation of each. May Queen in 1951 was Sara Reece (Mrs. James H. Miller). The Marshal Club of 1952 strikes a formal pose in the music room of Prof. Steve Morrisett's home. Field Day award winners in 1953 hold trophies after presentation by President Elliott. Among 1954 superlatives were Martha Gantt and Bunny Price.

The 1955 engineer for the Gardner-Webb Radio Hour was Ector Hamrick. Homecoming Queen in 1956 was Irva Smith (Mrs. Joe Maddox). BSU officers for 1957 were Max Evington, Carolyn Profitt, and Grace Ollis. Inspiration to the class of 1958 was Martha Mason, leading her class with an A record from her confined quarters in an iron lung. Prof. M. A. Moseley entertains Science Clubbers of 1959 with geiger counter and radioactive ore. Final picture shows Miss Linda Sharpe, Miss Gardner-Webb College, as she ushers in the new decade.

Memorials are available in the current campaign for immediate needs, and included in the $550,000 effort are plans for memorials of various amounts from $2,500 to $100,000.

Although gifts have been generous, only three specific memorials have been claimed. The Gardner family has given $75,000 to erect and name the Webb Administration Building; L. C. Bost and members of the Bost family have a $30,000 memorial in Bost Pool; and a block of tennis courts will be surfaced as a memorial to his parents by J. L. Suttle, Jr.

Memorials available, and their value, are:

CONVOCATION AND CAMPAIGN REPORT

During the Founders' and Homecoming Convocation last Oct. 30-Nov. 1 a group of some 300 leading citizens of the greater Gardner-Webb area met with the college trustees and adopted a plan to raise $550,000 to meet immediate needs of the college.

Gifts and pledges as of Feb. 13 total $300,000, which represents advance gifts only. The general drive for funds gets under way in Cleveland County Feb. 15 and in Rutherford County March 11. Plans are developing for an organized effort in Gaston County later this spring.

The drive is centered primarily in the three counties nearest Gardner-Webb because they are the ones principally served by the college. Over half the present students live in these counties, and an equal figure is true for alumni. Alumni and friends in other areas are to be contacted this spring.

The total to date includes a $100,000 anonymous challenge gift, $75,000 from the O. Max Gardner Foundation for erection of the Webb Administration Building, $30,000 from the Bost Family of Shelby to enclose Bost Pool for year-around use, and several smaller gifts. The trustees and faculty are 100 per cent in participation, with cash and pledges of $40,000.

The $550,000 sought is for erection of a Science Building, the Webb Administration Building, enclosing the pool and completing the athletic field, and removing a debt of $150,000.

Cleveland's goal is $300,000 and Rutherford is seeking $100,000. This leaves $150,000 to be raised in Gaston and other areas. The alumni are expected to take a strong interest in the drive.

The Bulldogs had a moderately good season in football, with a break-even record against some rugged opposition. Coach Norman Harris says if he can just: "Hold the good ones and find replacement for the weak spots next fall will be a dream."

BASKETBALL

With basketball season almost over, the Bulldogs are a shade above the .500 mark. They have blown hot and cold through the season, and Coach Bob Blackburn says he and the boys are learning and working as they go along. He has pulled some superb strategy and developed good team combinations in several games. Sweetest victories were Dec. 17 over Win-gate and a solid shellacking given Asheville-Biltmore Feb. 6.

The Howard Davenports, '55 (Nancy Luffman) live in Chattanooga, Tenn., where Howard is East Tennessee District Engineer for Shell Oil Company. Nancy teaches fifth grade in Pineville School.

Across The Desk

By John Roberts, Quarterly Editor

This issue, completing six years for the Quarterly, features scenes and events of the decade just ended. For numerous reasons the past 10 years could be aptly called The Fateful Fifties, for they have to a great degree charted the future for Gardner-Webb.

Let's review some glimpses and highlights of these 10 years:

1950 — Student enrollment hit 453; W. F. Troutman was new head of the social studies department; Jonas Bridges had a radio club; Pete "Speedy" Rollins was a basketball cut-up; and "Pueblo" Heafner was cheerleader extraordinary. A pair of sophomores "steadies" Zeb Moss and Evelyn Krause, were later to tie the knot and become missionaries to Africa. Dr. P. L. Elliott began his eighth year as president.

Mr. Roberts

then went on to play in the Golden Isles Junior College Bowl. The championship football now in the trophy case carries the names of co-captains Jack Holt and Joe Cole, Steve Morrisett, Jr., Bob Blackburn, Phil Elliott, Jr., and many others of a great team.

1952—Dover Memorial Library was completed in the spring, and shortly after commencement time the old rock gym was mercifully torn down and removed from its front door. This improved the view, but left Gardner-Webb without a gymnasium for five years. And two Gardner-Webb personalities of a quarter-century or longer retired from the scene—the Rev. J. L. Jenkins as college pastor and sometimes president, and Mrs. Bessie Huggins as teacher and counselor.

1953—Student enrollment was down to 421. Ben C. Fisher, Garland Hendricks and Frank Richardson resigned from the administrative staff. But W. Lawson Allen returned to the college and the trustees began talking of a major building program.

1954—The college launched a noble but unorganized effort to raise $1,750,000 for new buildings and other improvements. Your editor came to the college as publicity director. Student enrollment was up. But in late fall President Elliott suffered a heart attack and was forced to take an extended leave.

1955—Contracts were let for construction of a new dormitory for women, later to be named Stroup Dormitory. Dr. Elliott recovered his health and returned to the presidency. W. Lawson Allen was named vice-president. January brought two heavy snows. A champion debate squad was born. J. Y. Hamrick directed his drama students in a production of Romeo and Juliet.

1956—A year of changing faculty faces. Ten new professors taking new posts and filling vacancies. Still on the scene from that group are Joseph Godwin, Doris Jones, and Seth Washburn. Resignations came that year from W. F. Troutman, Dr. Robert A. Dyer, Dr. Robert N. Elliott, Julian Hamrick, Miss Mabel Starnes.

1957—Golden Anniversary Year, marking a half-century of operations. A year of dramatic events, wrought of man and the Divine. "Lengthened Shadows," a college history came from the press in February. Dr. W. Wyan Washburn directed a Health Fair, sponsored by the Clinic, and at commencement time the faculty presented a historical pageant, "The Gardner-Webb Story." In April death claimed young and personable J. Y. Hamrick, third faculty member to die during the academic year. Others were Dr. T. C. Holland and Mrs. M. A. Stroup. Contracts were let in the spring for a new gymnasium and swimming pool; the pool was in use by May, the gym in September. John E. Roberts directed a Golden Anniversary Celebration in October, but it was almost anticlimatic to the drama of August 22, when old Huggin-Curtis Hall went up in flames.

1958—Charles Hunsinger won a Morehead Scholarship to Carolina, Betty Jo Hamrick edited THE ANCHOR, and Martha Mason in her iron lung held the school's scholastic lead and received a diploma. Jerry James was president of the student body, and both freshman and sophomore classes had Dean Bridges as president—in two people.

1959—Desire became intense for additional space. Professional fundraising consultants recommend a campaign for building funds. Pressing needs are science and administration buildings. By year's end the administration building is pledged, and gifts total $300,000 toward the two structures and other needs.

1960—Still in the midst of raising money for needed buildings, the college hears rumblings on the horizon for four-year status. Enrollment for the year reaches 571. The first year of the '60's promises to be one of building for the future—in scholarship and in facilities.

Bill Gibbons, '47, was named Young Man of The Year last month in Gaffney, S. C., where he is program director for radio station WFGN.

Making the presentation was Jaycee President Leon Ferraez, '61.
