Over 1,300 Students Register For Classes

Over 1,300 students have registered for Gardner-Webb's historic 1969-70 school year. Of the number, 241 are members of the junior class—the school's first in a move toward eventual four year status in 1970-71.

Dr. Eugene Postle, president, is seeing his Decade of Adverse plan, announced in 1951, coming true as schedule and web enter in the way of physical facilities and growth of the faculty and administration.

Ninety-five professors and administrators, plus a large crop of staff members, are on hand for the important year. This number has grown steadily during the past three years and will possibly level off now as enrollment remains around the 1,300 figure for the next few years.

Students arrived throughout the period of August 28-27 in preparation for registration on August 28-29. Organizational leaders and football players were first to arrive followed by freshmen and transfer students who are required to take part in orientation programs.

Most of the juniors are returning students although some do come from other colleges or are returning to college after an absence of a few years.

Most of these students are boarding on campus or in community housing (1,000) and there are 300 commuting students. Classes began September 1 in what is expected to be Gardner-Webb's greatest year since its founding in 1925.

know he is from Alamance County, Burlington, with a zip 27215, a male, at Gardner-Webb in 1959, from the 54th state (N. C.) of 50, and a non graduate. Linda McGilford, former student who is now making the Report Program Generator course at IBM in Atlanta, Ga., is credited with typing most of this data onto the 28,000 cards.

Cleveland County is the one leading in GW alumni and records show 1,284 people of the county have attended the college. All 50 states, the District of Columbia and 19 foreign nations are represented in the files.

A major use of this information will be for printed address labels for THE WEB, monthly alumni publication and for gathering information for alumni chapter meetings.

Statistics in alumni work know full well Americans are a people "on the move" for around 20 to 30 changes in address made every week or so.

If the alumni staff having they are just a member—they will be right.

Gardner-Webb College, taking full advantage of modern data processing equipment, has an entire 7,500 alumni names neatly packed into eight file drawers.

The more than 28,000 cards allow the department to make alumni more than a number through rapid processing of files to find names, addresses, class dates, zip codes, and other information about alumni.

Data processing department head Wallace Carpenter and his assistant, Keith Grigg, have for several years handled all processing cards on the entire student body as to grades, etc. Now they can keep track of them after they leave college.

Jack Lee Anthony of Burlington, Miss. 390010, has the honor of being first in the bulky file. If you can read the code, you know he is from Alamance County, Burlington, with a zip 27215, a male, at Gardner-Webb in 1959, from the 54th state (N. C.) of 50, and a non graduate. Tone And Character Committee Makes Recommendations For College

The Tone and Character Committee of the Board of Advisors made several important recommendations in a July 10 meeting at the campus.

The committee, headed by Charles Alexander of Kings Mountain has called for the construction of an area between Lenoir-Yahara and Maudry Hill residences for men. Ann of this is to provide an area for students to relax, study, meet parents and friends and have meetings without disturbing other students in their rooms.

In other recommendations the committee called for a Spring revival in 1971 as the Ernest W. Spangler Memorial Student. This would be a follow up of the last Crusade led by Rev. C. Wesley Wilson of the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

William Wallace of Charlotte moved that all entertainment on the campus be in keeping with the stated Christian purpose of the college. This was prompted by a discussion concerning the change of appearance and actions of certain entertainers between the date of contact by Gardner-Webb College officials and the date they actually arrive on campus. The motion passed.

A Vocational Emphasis Week was set for Jan. 19-23, 1971 on a motion by John Nell of Charlotte. Nell and Joe Gilby of Mooresville desired the emphasis to allow business and industry to send representatives to the campus to acquaint students with various opportunities as they plan their careers.

Judith Lynn Hendrix '65 of 4335 Old Town Drive, Winston-Salem, received a Master of Religion Education degree during the summer commencement services at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Texas on July 18.

KARL NEILSONKILLED AUGUST 13

The cool, "slatch" basketball player who, more than any other individual, earned Gardner-Webb College its first national basketball tournament, was killed in an early morning automobile accident August 13 in Birmingham, Ala.

Karl Neilson, 65, 185 pounds forward for the Gardner-Webb teams of 1966-67 and 1967-68, died instantly in a one-car accident. He was a passenger in the vehicle which occurred on a Birmingham city street, rolled over several times, and then hit a utility pole.

A rising senior at Sanford University where he had led that school's team in scoring as a junior, Neilson was showing bright promise for his final year of college basketball.

A memorial scholarship fund has been started in Neilson's memory. Please send your contribution to college if you desire to assist the Boiling Club in this project.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. August 16 at the First Presbyterian Church of Miami Springs, Fla. Neilson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Paul Neilson of 366 Linwood Drive, Miami Springs.

DO YOU REMEMBER? (July Issue)

"Hey, guess You looked terrible!"

You know with reactions such as that the use of these old pictures could get WEB suffers killed. Mrs. John Bean (Sara Nell Dill) of Gastonia, told her class agent (Genevieve Gastil) "I don't feel that old but my family was seated at the picture." It was her child who returned to the informal pose—curlers and all.

She, Mrs. Bernice Trasker of Boiling Springs, Mrs. Mack Hazenck of Boiling Springs and Sylvia Peacock of Charlotte were also participants of the 1941-42 Adheseon-Rhomanator Society. We do appreciate so much your interest and response.

We feel that Mrs. Bean's letter to Mrs. Gastil was so sincere and free that we want to print excerpts. She said, "During the years I have followed with much interest the growth of our school. Gene Peacock has done such a marvellous work there. You can tell all of the expansion has been a result of much prayer, planning, and hard work. The school has been such a blessing to so many young people through the years."

She went on to say that since 19 years of teaching the fourth grade in Lowell that she will retire and give more time to her family, including a third grade (Kathryn). Her husband is Dean of Students at Belmont Abbey College.
