QUARTERLY

Dr. Eugene Poston

Dear Alumni:

Gardner-Webb College is in an enlargement program to assure the Extra Dimension in her educational program—a vital Christian environment that will enhance the academic program. At the head of the list of projects in this program is a Chapel-Religious Activities Center. This building will give to the study and the practice of the Christian religion its proper setting. Along with this building will come a Fine Arts Center and a Campus Center. These two buildings will add to the cultural, the social, and the recreational phases of life at Gardner-Webb College. We believe these phases of life are a part of the total Christian personality.

In order to meet some of the pressing needs of additional students a new men's dormitory is under construction, with several more to come in the future. The community college program should cause Gardner-Webb to become more of a resident school. This will offer greater challenges in developing a true Christian community on the campus.

Gardner-Webb College believes that true Christianity emphasizes deep scholarship. Therefore, plans are in the making for an additional classrooms building and additional teaching aid equipment. Along with these additions we plan to increase our faculty and our staff to the point we can minister to the needs of individuals as well as groups.

The physical body is the temple of the soul and the Holy Spirit. Therefore, Gardner-Webb College believes in building strong physical bodies. Our plans are to enclose the swimming pool for year-round use and to finish the athletic stadium. We believe in a strong intra-mural athletic program as well as inter-college athletics.

To secure the future of the Extra Dimension, Gardner-Webb College is pressing for a greater endowment program. Part of the present campaign is aimed at increasing endowment.

Christian Higher Education is not a luxury. It is a must in the 20th and 21st centuries.

When I became President of Gardner-Webb College in 1961, I projected the following ten-year program (to be reached by 1971):

1. Enroll a student body of 1000
2. Build a faculty of 75 members
3. Reach an Endowment of $3,000,000
4. Build the following buildings:
 - Chapel-religious activities building
 - Campus Center (Cafeteria, recreation, etc.)
 - Two classrooms buildings
 - Four additional dormitories
 - Athletic stadium (covering swimming pool)
 - Fine Arts building
5. Reach the rank of senior college

The trustees have voted to work toward meeting the standards of a senior college. The decision to become a senior college will come at the proper time.

We need your full support. I believe we shall have it.

Sincerely yours,

E. Eugene Poston

CONVOCATION

March 20 - 21 - 22

GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE

Dr. Billy Graham
Gov. Dan Moore
Rep. Julia Butler Hansen
Mr. D. W. Brosnan

Nationally Known Speakers Will Be On Campus March 20-22

Gov. Moore

Rep. Hansen

Dr. Graham

Mr. Brosnan

Four nationally known personalities will be guest speakers on the Gardner-Webb College Campus during the weekend of March 20-22, announces Dr. Eugene Poston.

Governor Dan K. Moore, Dr. Billy Graham, Congresswoman Julia Butler Hansen of Washington State, and D. W. Brosnan, President of Southern Railway System, will lead the college through its convocation and the official beginning of its program for capital outlay funds.

Mrs. Hansen, a Democrat serving her third term in Congress, will speak at 10 a.m., Saturday, March 20, during the Alumni Convocation in the college gymnasium. Her topic will be "Christian Education—America's Security."

Also on Saturday a President's Reception will be held in the O. Max Gardner Building at 3 p.m., followed at 6 p.m. by a meeting of ministers and church representatives.

Governor Moore rounds out a full day Saturday, speaking on "Education Is Everybody's Business." His address will begin at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Dr. Graham will, weather permitting, speak from the front of the O. Max Gardner Building at 3 p.m., Sunday. All alumni, friends and others are invited to this meeting.

A "by invitation only" meeting of business and industrial leaders will be held at 7 p.m., Monday, in the lounge of the O. Max Gardner Building with Mr. Brosnan speaking on "Education and Business—A Partnership." Dr. Poston will explain the "Decade of Advance" during this meeting.

R. Patrick Spangler, Cleveland County businessman and civic leader, accepted the general chairmanship of Gardner-Webb's major capital fund campaign on Nov. 19, 1964.

The campaign officially opens March 20-22 with the Convocation on the college campus but already hours of work have gone into preparation for the program. Spangler is spearheading these events which it is hoped will result in the college being able to meet its present and future expansion needs and increase the institution's endowment fund.

BOST IS NEW CHAIRMAN OF BOARD

In November Lloyd C. Bost of Shelby was named Chairman of the Board of Trustees, taking the place of Toliver Davis of Forest City who rotated off the Board and onto the Advisory Board. Other officers elected were Mrs. Rush Stroup, Shelby, vice-chairman; Arnold W. Kincaid, '26, Kings Mountain, secretary; Mrs. O. Max Gardner, Shelby, treasurer, and Miss Charline Stamey, Fallston, assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Hicks Is Directing Office Work During Campaign Months

Mrs. Janelle Hamrick Hicks, secretary to the vice president of Gardner-Webb College, has been appointed office manager to supervise overall secretarial work in connection with the college's forthcoming capital fund drive.

A native of Cleveland County, Mrs. Hicks received her business training at Gardner-Webb College and has served in the capacity as secretary to the vice president for 10 years.

She is married to John L. Hicks who is employed in the Production Services Department of Fiber Industries, Inc. The Route 1, Mooresboro, couple has one son, Larry Hicks, '61, who is presently teaching in the city schools system of Baltimore, Md. He is a graduate of Gardner-Webb and Davidson College and attended Union Theological Seminary in New York City for one year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks are active members of the Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church where Mrs. Hicks is organist and her husband is a deacon and treasurer of the church.

As office manager, Mrs. Hicks will supervise the work of two full-time and two part-time secretaries in carrying out work connected with the fund drive which begins March 20-22 with a convocation at which a series of well-known persons will speak, including Dr. Billy Graham, internationally known evangelist.

In addition to new officers, seven new trustees were added to the board this year. They are H. Max Craig Jr. of Stanley, Vance Huggins of Charlotte, Dr. J. Roy Robinson, '30, of Hickory, G. B. Harrill of Forest City, Paul Bridges of Cliffside, Rev. T. W. Estes, '52, of Forest City and C. P. Nanney of Gastonia.

Rotating off the Board of Trustees onto the Board of Advisors besides Davis were Rev. Robert P. Hamby, Hendersonville, J. C. Hames, Cliffside, and Rev. Wilson Padgett, '42, Shelby.

Mr. Bost

R. Patrick Spangler Spearheads Gardner-Webb College's Major Campaign

"Pat Spangler"

R. Patrick Spangler, dynamic businessman and leader of Shelby, was tapped as overall chairman of the 60th Anniversary Phase of the Decade of Advance.

Spangler's acceptance marked the drive with success from its early beginning. His previous experience in civic and industrial work, based on a desire to boost higher education in this area have and are proving valuable assets to the continued advancement of Gardner-Webb College.

His interest in the college ranges much deeper than just providing leadership, evidenced by a sizeable gift from him and his brother Earl (Bud) Spangler for the construction of an athletic stadium at the college. The stadium will be named in memory of their father, Earnest Webb Spangler and in honor of their mother, Mrs. Verna Patrick Spangler.

Leadership Is Chosen . . . The List Is Impressive

Leadership is the key which opens the door to success in any undertaking and R. Patrick Spangler has taken firm note of this.

As overall chairman of the "Decade of Advance" program, he has selected some of this area's most outstanding men to direct Gardner-Webb's push forward.

John R. Dover, III, '47, director of industrial relations for Dover Textile Group, has accepted the post of Convocation chairman; John V. "Jack" Schweppe, manager of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.'s Carolina plant and G. J. (Jack) Vincent, vice president and general manager of Dover Mills, will serve as co-chairmen of the committee for solicitation of the college Board of Advisors; Lloyd C. Bost, vice president and secretary of Bost Bakery, Inc., is chairman of the committee for solicitation of the college Board of Trustees, and Robert R. Forney, '31, vice president in charge of sales at Lily Mills in Shelby, has agreed to be special gifts chairman.

These men are gathering other outstanding leaders around them for the program designed to make the "Decade of Advance" an assurance in the future of the college.

Associational Minutes Donated To Library By Dr. Washburn

Dover Memorial Library at Gardner-Webb College is now a central information center for persons seeking historical information about the Kings Mountain Baptist Association and its 69 churches.

Dr. W. Wyan Washburn, administrator and physician at the Royster Memorial Hospital, has presented the library with microfilm records of all minutes of the association and its individual churches since formation in 1851.

There is also other information about the association including microfilm copies of church bulletins, memorial type materials, photographs, and other papers. Among this information is the record of an 1816 land grant by John Hamrick to the Town of Boiling Springs. The land grant now includes that area on which the college is located. The original of this grant is in the safe of the Boiling Springs Baptist Church.

"As historian for the association, I worked with others in getting this information assembled and microfilmed so that it might be preserved and copies of it sent to Gardner-Webb, Wake Forest and the Southeastern Seminary," Dr. Washburn stated. Total estimated cost of the project was $500. The original negatives for the materials are in the vault of the Southern Baptist Historian Association in Nashville, Tenn. Copies of this material can be obtained for a fee from the Historical Association.

These microfilm records were displayed at the Kings Mountain Associational meeting Oct. 22-23 at the Waco Baptist Church. Plans are now being made for the writing and publication of a history of the association, Dr. Washburn said. These materials would aid in that effort.

Our Alumni President Speaks

Dear Fellow Alumni:

Gardner-Webb College is in the midst of some of her grandest hours. These are days of growth and expansion and discovery. The launching of a new program of building along with an ever widening outreach in the fields of scholarship and cultural development are as challenging and exciting to those of us who know and love Gardner-Webb as any space probe of the scientific world. Those of us who are members of the Christian church have prayed long and yearned for years for Christian educators who would dedicate themselves to the building of Christian colleges and universities that were second to none in every area of life — theology, science, philosophy, ethics, and the cultural arts. The leadership of our Alma Mater appears to be dedicated to nothing less than the best. Nor is our leadership willing to compromise Christian principles for influence, money, or any other expediency. For this we can be eternally grateful. But our gratitude must be more than heart-felt. It must produce action on the part of all who love our mother school. These are days when the administration needs our prayers, words of encouragement, and material support. We must show the college that we are excited and filled with hope. At a time when we are urged to give our money to every conceivable "good" cause, let us not forget that money we invest in Christian education is money invested in eternal values. As I look back across the years I can recall many young men and women who came to Gardner-Webb with very little financial security, but who were given an education and who are now serving their Lord and their country with noble creativity. I recall that many young men and women found more than knowledge at Gardner-Webb. They found God! They found a vital Christian faith that will forever change the course of history not only for them but for the world in which they serve. A few months ago it was my privilege to attend one of the chapel services at the college in which I heard one of the world's outstanding evangelists preach the Gospel and give an invitation to all those who would accept Christ as Savior. Then I learned that Dr. Billy Graham, world famous evangelist is to preach on the campus early this year. I also listened as Dr. Poston prayed for the students and I heard him make an appeal for Christian dedication. My heart was lifted and my mind was made up that truly Gardner-Webb is continuing to present more than an education — she is constantly holding high the Truth which can make all men free. As long as this is true, we cannot depend on the government to support our school. We cannot depend on financial giants to bear the burden. We the alumni must rise to the occasion and share our every possible resource in order that the work might continue. As a fellow alumnus let me urge you to send some contribution to the college building program now. No matter how small it may seem to be, our gifts are needed and will be wisely invested.

Mr. Teague

Sincerely yours,

Forrest Teague

FROM MY SIDE

By: Robert W. Abrams

The Enlargement Program and Fund Drive of our Alma Mater should be something in which we take real pride and in which we find real satisfaction. It offers to each of us a number of opportunities, which I should like to mention.

First, it provides an opportunity to reflect on our history. We may not learn much from the past but we can learn and we should learn. It will be fine if we recall how our college has developed from her founding in 1905 as the Boiling Springs High School, Incorporated; how she became Boiling Springs Junior College in 1928; and how she entered upon a new era of service in 1942, with her name changed to Gardner-Webb. Recalling this will serve to remind us that the college has withstood many storms and trials in her 60 years of life and service. We will realize she has continued through two world wars, and the great depression. She also has seen the advent of the nuclear and space age. Through all these developments she has grown and served, and is the better equipped for the opportunities of the present and of the future.

Robert Abrams

Second, the present effort gives us the occasion to express our gratitude for the privilege of being a part of the College and for her being a part of us. Knowing full well the truth of the poet's statement that "We are a part of all that we have met," every alumnus has much for which to be grateful in relation to the enrichment of his life through his college experience. Perhaps it was through the dedicated life of a president, a faculty member, a student, or just the Gardner-Webb spirit that your life was blessed, challenged, or inspired. However we may express it, can we not all say "my life is richer and fuller as a result of my association with Alma Mater?" There must be a cause and source of Thanksgiving here.

Third, the forward looking effort makes it possible for us to express appreciation for the college's past, and to have a part in her future by means of our gifts. Certainly we realize that many of those who went before us aided the college through sacrificial lives and gifts. Let us know that the price we paid to attend the school was not the cost, for it was much more and the difference in the cost and what we paid was borne by others. This same situation still exists now, and this is the opportunity for us to have a part with those who went before us and with those who will follow after us. With the Apostle Paul let us recognize that we are debtors, and resolve that we will make a payment on our obligation to the past and to the future.

I want to pledge my best effort and my largest possible gift to this effort in order that Gardner-Webb may continue to have "The Extra Dimension." Will you join me in this pledge?

Sincerely yours,

Dr. Theron Price Was Guest Speaker At Founders Day In October, 1964

"I would vote for federal aid to privately supported institutions as opposed to the possible future dilemma of do we intend to exist." Dr. Theron D. Price of Furman University told a Founders Day gathering at Gardner-Webb College on October 24.

Chairman of the Department of Religion at Furman, Dr. Price said, "Many privately supported institutions are going to be squeezed off the vine in the next few years as it becomes more and more difficult to remain open in the face of tremendous demands made upon our colleges."

While he used the phrase "the state has moved more and more into education and has endangered the existence of some colleges", Dr. Price said that under the conditions of the present Higher Education Facilities Act that the question of taking the money or "deciding if we intend to exist" would lead him to vote for receiving the aid.

Turning to curriculum, Dr. Price called for Departments of Religion in colleges which are on par with all other departments. "It is the task of the Christian college to create ethically enlightened generations for the future and this is today lagging perhaps more than any other field. He said church-related colleges have an opportunity to produce business and professional people of Christian leadership.

"In the liberal arts college we stress not so much learning how to make a living but living a life," stated the educator. He then expanded this topic in discussion of our nation's changing role from a rural society to an urban, manufacturing society more in need of technical and trade training.

He called upon the gathered alumni of the Baptist Junior College to support education and keep it close to the people and to try to understand that "general excellence demanded depends upon more money than one person can count."

His hard-hitting remarks followed introduction by Dr. E. Eugene Poston, '43, president of Gardner-Webb, and a brief talk by Hubert C. Dixon, '33, chairman of the Department of Mathematics and Science. Dixon gave highlights of achievements of past principals and presidents of the 59 year old college.

Special guests were members of the families of these men who Dixon said, "all became part of the solution of the problem of continued existence and growth of Gardner-Webb College."

Presiding was Lansford Jolley, '47 chairman of Founders Day and chairman of the college's Social Studies Department. The college choral ensemble directed by Jerry Hill, chairman of the Music Department, sang two songs and Dr. Garland H. Allen, chairman of the Department of Religion, gave the invocation.

The classes of 1951-1955 were special guests and representatives of these groups were recognized.

Portraits of past presidents and principals made up the background decorations in the O. Max Gardner Building. Those and their families honored were former principals of the Boiling Springs School, J. D. Huggins, Sr., 1907-1910 and 1914-28; F. A. Brown, joint principal, 1908-10, J. M. Hamrick, 1910-11 and W. J. Francis, 1911-14.

Former presidents honored were James Blaine Davis, 1928-30, Dr. Zeno Wall, 1930-32; James L. Jenkins, 1932-35; A. C. Lovelace, 1935-36; George J. Burnett, 1936-39; J. R. Cantrell, '19, 1939-43; Dr. Philip L. Elliott, 1943-61 and Dr. Poston, present president.

Following the luncheon, the new men's dormitory was formally opened when student body president Burt Langley cut the ribbon for an open house inspection by alumni and students. During ceremonies, Dr. Poston announced the college board of trustees would meet Nov. 2 with the purpose of studying the possibilities of immediately starting another new men's dormitory to house 100 students.

A barbecue was held at 5 p. m. in the gymnasium highlighted by a Bulldog Club report by Dr. Charles Lampley.

THREE BUILDINGS AT GARDNER-WEBB NAMED FOR ACTIVE SUPPORTERS

Bost Physical Education Building

Charles I. Dover Campus Center

A. T. Withrow Science Building

Three buildings at Gardner-Webb College have been named for supporters of Christian Education in this area. Two Cleveland County and one Mecklenburg County family were honored in the action by the college board of trustees in January.

The science building was named in honor of A. T. Withrow of 800 Huntington Park Drive, Charlotte; the physical education building and swimming pool in honor of L. C. Bost of Shelby and in memory of Mrs. Jean Bost Gardner, and the soon to be constructed campus center-cafeteria is named in honor of Charles I. Dover of Shelby.

Withrow, the Bost family and the Dover family have given sizable gifts to the college in the past and support the school with their time and service in planning and serving on college boards and committees.

A hoped-for medical career, once sacrificed by Withrow for lack of funds to attend medical school, adds impetus to the Charlottean's efforts to support Christian Education. A real estate and businessman in the Queen City for the past 15 years, Withrow is a native of Rutherford County, a graduate of Duke University in the class of 1925 and an active supporter of Gardner-Webb for years.

He and five of his brothers, who also live in Charlotte, are engaged in the buying and liquidation of government housing installations as well as being in real estate.

The soft-spoken businessman is a vigorous worker in the Pritchard Memorial Baptist Church of Charlotte. He and his wife, the former Clare Lee Lennon of Wilmington, have three sons and also have living in their home a Peruvian youth, Angel Vasquez who is a student at Charlotte College.

There is a scholarship fund at Gardner-Webb College set up by Withrow and also a $100,000 life insurance policy on his life with the college made as the beneficiary.

The Bost family has been and remains a strong supporter of the college. This was evidenced when the college named its swimming pool, The Bost Swimming Pool.

Contribution of money to have it covered for year-round use has been made recently by the family.

Lloyd C. Bost, a son of L. C. Bost and brother of Mrs. Jean Bost Gardner who died in 1952 at the age of 34, is a vigorous worker on the college Board of Trustees and presently is chairman of the committee for solicitation of the trustees. The solicitation is a part of the "Decade of Advance" program which begins March 20-22.

Bost is vice-president and secretary of Bost Bakeries, Inc. of Shelby. He is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the Univ. of N. C., and has been recognized as "Citizen of the Year" in Shelby.

Charles I. Dover, president and treasurer of the Dover Textile Group in Shelby and Cherryville, has for many years actively supported Gardner-Webb College.

The college library is named in honor of his father, John R. Dover, founder of the Dover Textile Group and now, fittingly enough, the campus center-cafeteria, located nearby, will be named for his son, Charles I. Dover.

Instrumental in setting up scholarship programs for children of the Dover Textile Group, Charles I. Dover has served many terms on the college Board of Trustees. A native of Shelby, Dover has attended N. C. State College, Fishburne Military Academy and Massey Business College in Richmond, Va. He is a graduate of Shelby High School. His first-hand knowledge of the textile field was learned through practical training in his father's plants where he worked his way through every department.

"Newsman Of Year" Honor Conferred Upon Gibbons

Bill Gibbons, '47, staff writer for The GAFFNEY (S. C.) LEDGER was honored in November in Columbia, S. C., as South Carolina's "Newsman of the Year." He was cited by the University of South Carolina chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism fraternity. He was a staff writer for THE SHELBY DAILY STAR in 1962.

Sturkey Elected Head Of Photographers Association

Don Sturkey, '53, of THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER in Charlotte recently was elected as president of the Carolinas Press Photographers Association. He succeeds Bill Norment of THE LUMBERTON ROBESONIAN. He is married to the former Miss Rachel Scroggs, '53.

MID-1950 VINTAGE GRADS ADD INTEREST, ZEST TO HOMECOMING

About 50 Gardner-Webb alumni of mid-1950 vintage had their own reunion before, during and after the Homecoming football game in October.

Most of the ones who attended were:

1958—Don and Linda Berry Miller, Arlington, Va.

1959—Mike Roper, Chesnee, S. C.

Former Student Studying Language In France

Charles W. Gidney, '63, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Gidney of 100 Brookhill Road, Shelby, is studying at the University of Lyon in Lyon, France, this year under a special agreement between the University of North Carolina and the University of Lyon.

He is one of 30 students attending under this program in which students receive credit toward graduation from UNC. Most of the students, including Charles, are majoring in the French language. At the end of the year they take a special exam and if they pass, their work is given credit at UNC.

He is a 1961 graduate of Shelby High School. At Gardner-Webb he was president of Phi Theta Kappa and received the awards for outstanding work by a student in Latin and French.

He, Bill Smart of Forest City and Robert Gidney, Jr., a brother now doing graduate and research work at N. C. State College in Raleigh, left Shelby for New York City on Aug. 28 and spent several days at the World's Fair. Gidney and Smart sailed for France Sept. 3 on the luxury liner, S. S. France.

They planned to visit in Paris before classes began in late September. They will return home in July of 1965. Gidney plans to return to UNC for graduate work in the fall of 1965.

Miss Jackson Completes Naval Training Course

Carol Ann Jackson, '63, of Shelby, recently completed 10 weeks of basic training at Recruit Training Command (Women) at the United States Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md. She is now taking a 16-weeks course in nursing at the U. S. Naval Training Center in Great Lakes, Ill.

Footnotes To Gardner-Webb College History

The President's Dinner for trustees, advisors, administrators, faculty, and staff was held Nov. 20 at the O. Max Gardner Building. During this meeting it was announced that R. Patrick Spangler would be overall chairman of the "Decade of Advance" program and that Dr. Billy Graham would help begin the program by speaking at the college March 21.

NEW DEPARTMENT ADDED TO GARDNER-WEBB COLLEGE CURRICULUM

A Department of Nursing Education will be initiated at Gardner-Webb College this fall in cooperation with the Rutherford and Cleveland Memorial Hospitals, announces Dr. E. Eugene Poston, '43.

Students in this program will be graduated in two years with an Associate in Arts degree and will be prepared to write and successfully complete the licensure examination of the North Carolina Board of Nurse Registration and Nursing Education.

Three years of intense planning by the three institutions was rewarded in February when the N. C. Board encouraged the institutions to make plans to open the new department in September, 1965. Each Hospital has pledged $20,000 annually for five consecutive years, and the college will spend around $30,000 annually to launch the ambitious and direly needed program.

It will be one of three such programs now in operation in North Carolina and will greatly increase the ability of this area to provide qualified nurses, Dr. Poston states.

"Trustees of all three institutions voted unanimously to support the program and are determined to provide the high quality education for nursing in this area," added Dr. Poston.

Monies now pledged to launch this program in nursing education will keep it going, but officials stress strongly the need for scholarships, loan funds, and other financial and general support for this costly additional department.

Under this Associate in Arts Program, a student enrolls at G-W where he or she takes a specific plan of study under the direction of a full-time staff employed for this purpose. Initially, the staff will be composed of a director and two instructors, all required to be qualified in the field of nursing education. Two additional instructors will be added to the nurse faculty later on. Other members of the college faculty will instruct the related fields of basic education.

Two nine-month school terms, plus a summer session for psychiatric instruction, possibly at Broughton Hospital, are required for graduation. The diploma-type nursing program requires three years of study and practice and is usually hospital based.

Students in the program at G-W will be transported to the two hospitals for the clinical phases of their education. Instructors will accompany the students during these "laboratory" hours.

Similar programs have been established in twenty-nine states. Recently the N. C. Nurses Association voted to encourage and endorse them in North Carolina.

Robert McKinnon, Administrator of Rutherford Hospital, listed advantages under the new program as completion one year earlier than under the diploma school, enhanced academic attainment through work on a college campus, ability to transfer courses for college credit, and a quick and effective means of providing badly needed nurses for this area.

"Students in this new program," said Mrs. Grace Lee, Director of Nursing Education at Rutherford Hospital, "have been found to perform exceptionally well on the state board examination and to do excellent work in their chosen fields of nursing."

Roy Creech, Administrator of the Cleveland Memorial Hospital, had this to say. "Many people in the Shelby area were sorry to see our Diploma Program discontinued in the late 1950's, and we are happy to arrive at a day when once more our Hospital can enter the Nurse Education field." "It is felt that a major accomplishment has been achieved for our area," says Robert McKinnon, Administrator of Rutherford Hospital.

McKinnon said, "The registered nurse program at Rutherford presently costs over $90,000 annually and eleven different agencies must be sought to assist in providing essential educational experience. Current trends in nursing education have made it more and more difficult for the Rutherford Hospital to graduate students qualified to meet requirements imposed by the State Board examination for nurse registration. The new program should be academically, economically, and otherwise superior to the present program in keeping with the Hospital's tradition of excellence."

Frank Coffey Training At Austrian Conservatory

Frank Linney Coffey, '62, is among 85 juniors in the Oberlin College (Ohio) Conservatory of Music who are studying at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria.

Frank studied music under Mrs. Robert Gidney. He also sang in the Central Methodist Church choir in Shelby while attending school in Boiling Springs.

He left New York Sept. 25 on the "Queen Elizabeth," arriving in Cherbourg, France, on Sept. 30. Classes began Oct. 14 after three days of orientation and auditions. Coffey and others will study with Ludwig Weber who teaches German lieder and opera. Next year they will return to Oberlin as seniors and complete work toward bachelor of music degrees.

Mrs. J. D. Huggins Succumbs To Illness

Mrs.
J. D. Huggins

Mrs. J. D. Huggins, 83, of Boiling Springs, succumbed to a long period of ill health Friday morning, Nov. 6, 1964, in Royster Memorial Hospital, death apparently caused by a heart attack.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Evelyn Prince, '26, of Statesville, and Rachel Hedrick (Mrs. Karl), '38, of Boiling Springs; a son, J. D. Huggins, Jr., '25, of Boiling Springs, a sister Louise Atkins Mobley (Mrs. W. F.), '13, of Spartanburg, S. C., 11 grandchildren, and 10 great grandchildren.

Bessie Atkins Huggins was a bride of a few months when she and Prof. Huggins moved to Boiling Springs in 1907. He had been employed as principal of the Baptist high school which was to open that fall with support of the Kings Mountain and Sandy Run Associations. He served as principal and teacher, and as dean when the school became a junior college in 1928. He died in April, 1932.

Mrs. Huggins taught English, Latin and Greek in the high school, continuing also in the college until the mid 1930's when she changed to the local public school. In 1945 she was asked to return to the college as counselor for girls and English teacher. She continued in this position until 1952 when she reached mandatory retirement age.

The 1952 Anchor, which was dedicated jointly to Mrs. Huggins and the Rev. J. L. Jenkins, stated "counselor, guide and friend, one who is ready to inspire, a pioneer of Gardner-Webb College whose forty-five years of lasting influence will be written on the pages of the hearts of those who have known and loved her through these years."

Mrs. Huggins was honored at a Founders Day Luncheon on Oct. 28, 1961. "She loved the school in the beginning and loves it still . . ." said F. B. Dedmond at the luncheon.

Scholarship Tests Set For April 17

Gardner-Webb College's $10,000 Competitive Academic Scholarship Tests will be given April 17 at the college.

During 1965-66, there will be 10 scholarships of $500 each, 10 scholarships of $250 each and 25 scholarships for $100 each awarded to students who rank in competition.

The scholarships will be awarded after personal interviews with those qualified students who made the highest on the tests in conjunction with their S.A.T. scores and subject to approval and acceptance as students of Gardner-Webb by the Admissions Committee.

Over 100 students entered competition for the grants last year. Only those students who are recommended by either their superintendent, principal, guidance counselor or home room teacher may compete for the scholarships. The superintendent, principal, guidance counselor or home room teacher must send a written recommendation to the college for each student who is to take the test for scholarships. Address all inquiries and communications to Scholarship Committee, Gardner-Webb College, Boiling Springs, N. C.

Former Student Returns To Visit Mrs. Elliott

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Passes, 1956-58, visited Mrs. Philip Elliott in Boiling Springs during the weekend of Nov. 19-20, 1964. Coming to the U. S. in 1951 as a displaced person from Greece, George met Mrs. Oakes of Weldon, mother of Taylor Oakes, who is married to Dr. Elliott's daughter. After completing his studies at GW, George went on to Guilford and later received his M.A. from N. C. State College. He is guidance counselor for the Greensboro City Schools. He is married to the former Loula Anthon of Washington, D. C. and they have a two-year old daughter, Helen. His wife came here from Greece when 8½ years old.

COACH NORMAN HARRIS HONORED AS REGION 10'S "COACH OF YEAR"

Norman Harris, Gardner-Webb football coach, has been named 1964 Coach of the Year in Region 10 of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Gardner-Webb finished the season with a 3-5 record and only its third losing season in 15 years, but handed conference winner Ferrum its only defeat of the year. Most success for the Bulldogs came at midseason as they snapped a three-game losing streak and went on a winning binge of three tilts before hitting the skids in the last two games against Chowan and Gordon Military.

The Bulldogs lost to Lees-McRae 20-7 in the first meeting of the season but won the second encounter 14-0 to win the Western Carolinas Junior College Conference crown from the Bobcats.

Coach Harris has been head coach at Gardner-Webb for thirteen seasons and has a won-loss record of 77-53-14 and has won six conference championships.

A native of Ridgcrest, Harris attended Lee Edwards High School in Asheville and captained the football team his senior year. The Lee Edwards' teams of the Harris era are considered by many to be the best scholastic teams ever produced in the Tar Heel State. The famed Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice was a teammate of Harris' during the outstanding years.

From high school, Harris went to Duke University and High Point College. He was the captain of the High Point team his senior year.

Harris received his undergraduate degree from High Point and was awarded the master's degree at George Peabody College.

He is married to the former Miss Jane Horn, '50, who is a member of the business education department at G-W. They have three children, Ann, 11, Debbie, 9, and Norman Jr., 4.

Mrs. Gladys Morris Is Faculty Member

Mrs. Gladys Morris of Murphy joined the English Department of Gardner-Webb College in September. Mrs. Morris, a native of Georgia, is a graduate of the Woman's College of Georgia and holds an M. A. degree from Vanderbilt University.

Her husband, the late Rev. J. Alton Morris, served pastorates in South Carolina for five years before coming to Murphy in 1945. He and Mrs. Morris lived in Murphy for 15 years while serving the First Baptist Church there. In 1960, Rev. Morris resigned as pastor of the First Baptist Church to serve as Associate in Missions in Region 10 for the Baptists.

Mrs. Morris was his secretary during this work which was a pilot educational project. It included organizing and directing Seminary Extension Centers, sponsored by state missions, the Home Mission Board and the Southern Baptist Convention.

After her husband's death in 1962, Mrs. Morris taught in Murphy public schools. Before her marriage she taught at Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens, Tennessee and in public schools. Her children are Mrs. C. L. Randall of Greensboro and John Alton Morris, Jr. of New York City.
