

Gardner-Webb University

Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University

GWU-Today

9-27-2015

CMU Fall Retreat

GWU Today

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today>

Recommended Citation

Today, GWU, "CMU Fall Retreat" (2015). GWU-Today. 190.
<https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today/190>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. It has been accepted for inclusion in GWU-Today by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@gardner-webb.edu.

CMU Fall Retreat

The annual Campus Ministries United (CMU) fall retreat was hosted in Tucker Student Center September 25-26. Students gathered to worship, hear sermons and build community during this time.

Scroll through below to see some of the photos from the event. To see all photos click here.

Photos by: Megan Hartman

At the start of the CMU Fall Retreat on Friday night, September 25th, students played the game "Mingle" in order to meet and connect with new people.

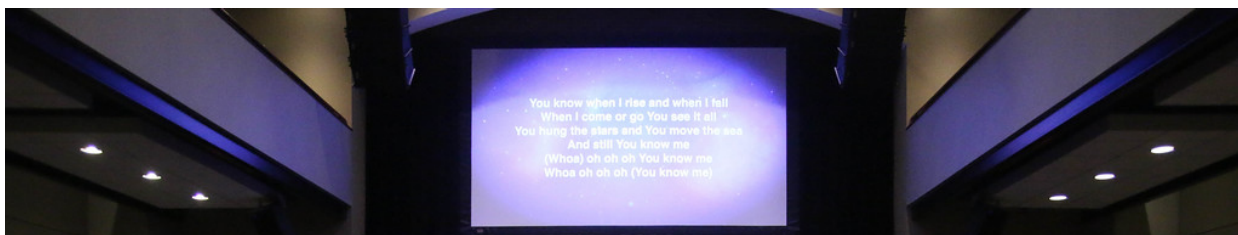

Friday evening, Rachel Rushing, from Broad River Community Church, led the students in a time of worship.

After the breakout sessions FOCUS members met to go over rules and a short devotional lead by Erica Wright, FOCUS Coordinator, before all of that some of the FOCUS Leaders entertained the members by performing the comedy "Beans Skit."

Students met again on Saturday morning at 9:00 to finish off the retreat. The morning began with another game called "Ships & Sailors," another game that encourages students to meet new people.

Friday night and Saturday morning, Dr. Alice Cullinan provided the message on "Who is God" and "Who am I."

Neil Payne, closed out the main session with reading the Word and prayer on Saturday afternoon.

For the girls' breakout session, Rachel Rushing taught a lesson titled "What it Means to be a Woman of God" and spent some time asking for personal prayer requests and getting to know them.

Ruth Anna Housand and Brittany Kertez posed for a picture after the retreat.