

Gardner-Webb University

Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University

GWU-Today

11-10-2015

Student Learn Spanish Dancing from TA's

GWU Today

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today>

Recommended Citation

Today, GWU, "Student Learn Spanish Dancing from TA's" (2015). GWU-Today. 259.
<https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today/259>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. It has been accepted for inclusion in GWU-Today by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@gardner-webb.edu.

Students learn Spanish dancing from TA's

Every week the Spanish Teaching Assistants (TA's) host a conversation table in the Broad River Coffee Shop where students can practice their Spanish and make connections with the TA's. Monday, November 9th, the conversation table was taken up a notch by adding a dancing lesson.

Here are a few photos from the event by Elizabeth Banfield. To see all of the photos, click here.

A Spanish TA instructs the students.

Students who came to the event stood in a line behind the TA's to learn the new moves.

Spanish dancing requires a lot of fast footwork.