

Gardner-Webb University

Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University

---

GWU-Today

Gardner-Webb Publications

---

9-13-2021

WGWG Interviews Rob Christensen Who Will Discuss His New Book on Sept. 17 at GWU

GWU Today

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today>

---

Recommended Citation

Today, GWU, "WGWG Interviews Rob Christensen Who Will Discuss His New Book on Sept. 17 at GWU" (2021). GWU-Today. 611.

<https://digitalcommons.gardner-webb.edu/gwu-today/611>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Gardner-Webb Publications at Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. It has been accepted for inclusion in GWU-Today by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Gardner-Webb University. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@gardner-webb.edu.

WGWG interviews Rob Christensen who will discuss his new book on Sept. 17 at GWU

Rob Christensen retired from The News and Observer in December 2018, after writing about North Carolina politics as a reporter and a columnist for 45 years. He has appeared on more than 600 TV or radio programs as a political analyst including the CBS Evening News, CNN's Inside Politics, MSNBC's Hardball with Chris Matthews, ABC's Nightline, Fox News and various PBS programs.

He has contributed chapters to five books on North Carolina and the South. His first solo book, "The Paradox of Tar Heel Politics" (UNC Press) was judged the best work of non-fiction by a North Carolinian in 2008 by the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association. His most recent book, "The Rise and Fall of the Branchhead Boys" was published by UNC Press in May 2019. He is currently working on a history of the Daniels family and The News and Observer.

Christensen will be participating in a student panel discussion in the library Sept. 17 from 2 – 4 p.m. He will also be doing a talk about his latest book, "The Rise and Fall of the Branchhead Boys", in Blanton Auditorium in Hamrick Hall on Sept. 17 from 7 – 9 p.m.

WGWG

Insights: Rob Christensen

Share

Privacy policy

WGWG · Insights: Rob Christensen