Sharie King to Speak at Gardner-Webb Dimensions Program on Nov. 1

By Bryton Mitchell, ('17) GWU Intern for Communications

BOILING SPRINGS, N.C.— Sharie King has a passion for teaching and reaching out to people with the love of Christ, and on Nov. 1, she will share her message at Gardner-Webb University's Dimensions program. The event starts at 9:25 a.m. in Stewart Hall of the Tucker Student Center, located on GWU's main campus. This program is free and open to the public.

King is married to Gardner-Webb alumnus, Clayton King, and has served in his ministry since 1997. She is a mother, author, and experienced speaker who travels all over the country to speak on several different topics.

"She is refreshingly transparent about her life and her walk with the Lord," said Dr. Tracy Jessup, vice president of Christian Life and Services and Senior Minister to the University. "Our students have always found Sharie to be relevant and interesting. She relates extremely well to college students and is so willing to share with them what God is teaching her."

For more information about King, visit sharieking.com. For information about Clayton King Ministries, visit claytonking.com.

Gardner-Webb's Dimensions program seeks to enhance the spiritual, intellectual and cultural life at the University and to promote a sense of community. More information is available by calling the GWU Office of Christian Life & Service at 704-406-4277 or visiting gardner-webb.edu.

Auxiliary aids will be made available to persons with disabilities upon request 10 days prior to the event. Please call 704-406-4253 or email servicerequests@gardner-webb.edu.

Located in Boiling Springs, N.C., Gardner-Webb University's purpose is to advance the Kingdom of God through Christian higher education by preparing graduates for professional and personal success, instilling in them a deep commitment to service and leadership, and equipping them for well-rounded lives of lasting impact, Pro Deo et Humanitate (For God and Humanity).
